

Accommodation

VolkerSite Services supply and install a variety of site accommodation across the UK and various sectors, including civil engineering, rail and nuclear.

From site accommodation to catering vans, VolkerSite Services' "one stop shop" approach means that we offer a full turnkey service for our clients, including installation, full groundworks and engineering support, security, fencing and hoarding, temporary works design, cleaning services as well as full facilities management and maintenance. We also have the capability to offer the installation of single-storey external steel staircases, steel steps, effluent tanks and COSHH stores, as well as 3m and 6m containers.

Currently within the VolkerSite Services accommodation fleet, there are three types of accommodation available; jacklegs, modular and semi-permanent modular buildings. Offering different types of site accommodation enables the team to supply cabins to any specification requested by the client, in order to meet their requirements.

Our dedicated team is here to guide you throughout the process, from enquiry to completion, whether that be assisting with building control, local planning authorities, design management, site management services or sustainability departments, to guarantee the end product meets the client's specification.

CTX Modular

Containex (CTX) modular units are flexible modular units, 6.055m x 2.435m in size, that can be configured in a variety of different ways. Utilising their quick and easy locking system means that cabins can be installed quickly and efficiently on site. The CTX units, which can be installed by either crane or hiab wagon, can be added to at any time (with a capability of stacking three high) to adapt to changing site conditions.

In addition to the standard units, the CTX system also offers additional features such as:

- Floor to ceiling glazing
- Skylights
- Roof terraces
- External staircases
- Bespoke wrapping
- Containers
- Stand-alone facilities
- Canopies

Portakabins

VolkerSite Services own a fleet of portakabin units, available in either 10.36m x 3.5m or 7.3m x 3.5m. The portakabin units are available as office and facilities units, as well as operatives' mess, toilet and drying room units. All units can be installed by crane or hiab wagon, depending on sites access.

Semi-permanent modular buildings

VolkerSite Services also offer solutions for semi-permanent modular buildings, with a wide range of applications from commercial buildings and construction offices to educational workplaces.

Modular buildings are constructed off-site in controlled factories, utilising stringent production management systems, before being delivered to site. VolkerSite Services can source semi-permanent accommodation and project manage the building control, planning and design, including full fit-out.
